environment. There was hatred and constant threat of violence. The best thing we could do was to go set up in a prison camp somewhere else. Berlin and its decadence was a good idea. The song came about from that. I loved Berlin. I loved the wall and the insanity of the place. The communists looked in on the circus atmosphere of West Berlin, which never went to sleep, and that would be their impression of the West."

"Holiday In the Sun" was later featured as the opening track on the group's debut album, Never Mind the Bollocks, Here's the Sex Pistols. The single's B-side was "Satellite", a song about the Still thinking of a deep deep quote. Basically:

It is super important for non-profits, advocacy and related groups to take charge of their destiny. Having control of your data is a good start. The crowd-sourced nature of an open source project is in line with the co-operation and principles of most non-profits

CiviCRM is a project that strives to make the above possible. It is FREE as in kittens.

Pre-CiviCon London 2012

If you just can't wait for CiviCon (and the London event is on <http://www.campuslondon.com/>). Please

This sprint is suitable for people that are interested in

You might be technically minded (i.e. you know how to use a computer)

If you are new to CiviCRM or want to learn more, this is a great opportunity. It is also being held on the Monday and Tuesday

Don't forget there are also two longer sprints happening in Bristol and in the Netherlands after CiviCon which you should consider attending as well / instead of this sprint.

And there may be even MORE sprinting happening the Saturday and Sunday before this sprint. If you are interested in attending that, please email michaelmcdrew@thirdsectordesign.org for more info.
